Sample Answer

This is a photo of a coffee shop with a barista behind the shop counter. The barista is working, possibly making some coffee, and waiting for customers to serve. Behind the counter, there are several shelves that have been hung on the wall with plants, bags of coffee, and other items placed on them. The menu is written on the tall blackboard, which is to the left of the barista. Also, on the right side of the photo, there's a large coffee machine, and next to it there are three other machines that are used to make coffee. The coffee shop's design is very stylish and natural because the counter and the shelves are made of wood and the chair in front of the counter is also wooden. Even though there aren't any customers present at the moment, I think it's likely a popular place for local residents and tourists to visit.

What to say?

- General statement (What's the photo of?)

This is a photo of six or seven firefighters getting out of a red helicopter.

What to say?

- Describe the actions of the people or subjects

A few of the firefighters are chatting casually while the others are taking some items out of the helicopter.

What to say?

- Describe the location (prepositional phrases)

They're in an open grassy field, and there is a small forest in the background.

What to say?

- Speculate (might, may, must, etc., If I had to guess, I'd say ...)

If I had to guess, I'd say that they're probably getting ready to do practice drills.

Sample answer

Here, in this photo, I can see a group of friends, around 7 or 8 people in total, who are sat around a campfire in a forest at night. It is dark and the light of the fire is illuminating the group. They don't seem to be too cold as some are wearing t-shirts, so I think this photo was probably taken in summer. They are having a relaxing evening by the fire and chatting with each other. You can see a couple of tents in the background where they're probably going to sleep.

This photo is of a hot air balloon with happy birthday written in big bold letters on it. The balloon is blue, red, and white, and it is in a really beautiful green field with some trees on the right-hand side. There is a group of people in the basket and getting ready for lift-off. Three men are standing on the grass next to the balloon and it looks like they're cheering the people in the basket. In the background, there are few really old-fashioned wooden houses on the hill. Based on the landscape and the style of the houses, I think that this photo was taken in Europe.

In this photo, a woman is backstage at a rock concert. She's watching the band play from the side rather than from the front like the rest of the crowd. She has her two arms in the air and looks to be dancing. It also looks like she's alone since there aren't many people around her. The band is in the background of this photograph, and it looks like there are five or six members all playing different instruments. I can see a few of them playing guitar and one on the keyboard. It must be a great concert.

Sample answer

This photo shows two men about to begin an arm-wrestling match. Although you cannot see most of their faces, you can tell that the man on the left is more determined since he is pressing his lips together hard. This seems to be a group of friends having a party and playing some games. Their friends have upped the stakes by making bets on who they think will be victorious. There's a surprisingly large amount of money on the table for the bet. I guess that the man on the left will win because, as I mentioned before, he looks more determined and serious.

This photo shows an airplane on a runway. The plane has either just landed or is being prepared for take-off. I can see two people next to the plane, and they're wearing yellow high-visibility vests, which suggests to me that they work at the airport. They're either loading or unloading the passenger's baggage. The tunnel that the passengers use to board the plane is attached to the side of the plane to allow the passengers on or off. The weather looks quite nice, so I think it's probably a nice day to fly.

Sample answer

This is an image of a conductor at a concert in the middle of conducting a musical piece. He's holding his baton in his right hand and using his left hand to gesture to the musicians. He's wearing a black suit, a white shirt, and a white bow tie. His eyes are extremely focused on the person he's looking at to his left, but we can't see who that person is. We can only see one musician, but there must be many more on either side of the conductor.

Sample answer
